

My personal creed.

I am hardworking, quick learner, honest and open to new challenges. I believe in taking pride in everything I do and try to put my quality first. I flourish in group settings, always taking initiative and enjoy deadlines and it pushes me to work harder and finish the task at hand.

Value that will shape my personal and professional life.

1. I shall always try to be the best son/brother to my parents and siblings.
2. I will strive to produce the best work I can whether it be in my personal or professional life.
3. I believe that if you show people respect then it shall be returned and this rule applies to my personal and professional life.
4. I shall strive to be a good employee who works hard and always produces the best I can.
5. I shall value my family regardless of what they think of me.
6. I shall value my colleagues regardless of what they think of me.
7. I will always do what I've been instructed to do but will question it if it something that goes against my values.
8. I shall work hard at whatever task is at hand.
9. I'm always willing to learn new things whether in be in a personal or professional environment.
10. I shall take the initiative to apply self-learning if i don't know something.
